Joint Conference Program

Baptist
Professors of Religion

Greetings from the NABPR Executive Secretary-Treasurer

The stars at night are big and bright, deep in the heart of Texas! The boldness of this meeting befits its location. With help from the Baugh Foundation, we have convened a tremendous array of experts to inform our plenary sessions on the topic of clergy abuse, the courage to break the silence, address it, and reform. For that reason alone, this meeting represents an important milestone for our organization.

All three organizations worked together closely and with Baylor University to create the program—it was laborious but so rewarding! I am energized by the collaborative nature of this meeting. It offers a chance to encounter new ideas, meet upcoming scholars, and renew old friendships.

NABPR President João Chaves managed proposals and program assignments for NABPR. Our local contacts, at least from the NABPR side, were primarily João Chaves, Mandy McMichael, and Heather Starkey, without whom there would be no meeting. Many other hands contributed, and they should all be thanked!

Greetings from the AMGP Executive Director-Treasurer

Welcome to the AMGP 2025 Annual Meeting. Our meeting again this year is held in conjunction with the annual meetings of our colleagues in the NABPR and BHHS. I want to thank all those at Baylor for hosting us this year. Heather Starkey, Administrative Associate for Ministry Guidance, has been most helpful in making all the logistical arrangements for the meeting. I also want to thank Adam English (NABPR) and Aaron Weaver (BHHS) for their leadership and collegiality in working together with me and our AMGP President, Lisa Seeley in planning this year's program. The practical and moral focus of this year's plenary sessions is particularly pertinent to AMGP.

Founded in 1959, AMGP is made up of Baptist theological educators responsible for guiding students through ministerial call clarification and supervised field experiences in ministry. We provide a forum for sharing information and establishing professional standards for ministry guidance.

The issue of clergy abuse is particularly pertinent for our organization. There has never been a greater need for congregational awareness and vigilance, moral and behavioral instruction for ministry leaders, and practices of prevention by all concerned.

Bill Carrell
Executive Director-Treasurer

Baptist History and Heritage Society

Greetings from the BHHS Executive Director

Welcome to Waco and to the 2025 joint annual conference of the Baptist History & Heritage Society! We are grateful for our partnership with NABPR and AMGP. Thank you to Adam English and Bill Carrell for their collaboration and collegiality!

A special word of gratitude to the Baylor University Department of Religion for hosting us, to Heather Starkey for coordinating local arrangements, and to BHHS President Mandy McMichael for her leadership planning this gathering.

Founded in 1938, BHHS helps Baptists discover, conserve, assess and share their history while bridging the worlds of the academy and the congregation through publications, conferences, and resources for ministers, laity, academics, and students.

Since 1969, BHHS has sponsored an annual meeting to explore diverse themes and topics related to Baptist history and identity. We are honored to have 27 presenters sharing their research and insights with us!

This year's focus on addressing abuse in Baptist communities provides a forum for courageous conversations about a pressing challenge in Baptist life—a reminder that abuse is part of the Baptist story. I look forward to learning together this week. Thank you for being here!

Aaron Weaver
Executive Director

Adult Clergy Sexual Abuse: Impact on Survivors

David Pooler, Professor of Social Work, Baylor University

Plenary Session Descriptions

Plenary Session 1 (Monday, 5/19—5:30–6:30 PM)

To Suffer in Silence

David Pittman, a survivor of child sexual abuse and founder of Together We Heal, shares his story of being abused in a Southern Baptist church and spotlights how a culture of silence impacts not only survivors but their families, congregations and communities as well, often hindering progress toward accountability and healing. Drawing on his journey of recovery and advocacy, David emphasizes that meaningful actions are the only way to protect, defend and support those who cannot speak for themselves.

David Pittman is the Director of Together We Heal and is a Safeguarding Educator with GRACE (Godly Response to Abuse in the Christian Environment). David is a survivor of child sexual abuse perpetrated by a Southern Baptist minister. For over 18 years he has worked toward reform within the church and its abuse issues, with the goal of helping change the culture to one that better protects children and holds perpetrators fully accountable.

Plenary Session 2 (Tuesday, 5/20—10:30–Noon)

The Lord is an Avenger: Patriarchy, Predators, and Preventing Exploitation

This session will explore the dynamics of abuse and harassment through power analysis, description of manipulation tactics, and common boundary testing. Through case examples and conversation, approaches to prevention of abuse/harassment and cultivation of safe behaviors will be learned.

Rev. Dr. Meredith Stone has served since 2020 as Executive Director of Baptist Women in Ministry (BWIM), an organization advocating for the full affirmation of women in ministry and leadership in Baptist life. BWIM's vision is for women to thrive as they minister and lead within Baptist communities. A graduate of Brite Divinity School at Texas Christian University (Ph.D. in Bible Interpretation), she is the author of "Empire and Gender in LXX Esther" (SBL Press, 2018) and has published extensively on women in ministry and religious gender justice. Her advocacy for women among Baptists has been featured in national news outlets such as CNN, The New York Times, The Washington Post, USA Today, NPR, and Religion News Service.

Rev. Dr. Jay Kieve serves as the Cooperative Baptist Fellowship's Director of Ministerial Transitions and Abuse Prevention and Response Advocate. He is also passionate about helping churches become places free from abuse where everyone can thrive. Jay is a safeguarding specialist for GRACE (Godly Response to Abuse in the Christian Environment) and a facilitator for Darkness to Light's "Stewards of Children." He routinely seeks trauma-related learning and is trained as a victim's advocate. Jay volunteers with local rape crisis/child advocacy centers and supports churches as they develop great policies and procedures for preventing abuse.

Plenary Session 3 (Tuesday, 5/20—3:30–5:00PM)—Panel

Breaking the Silence: Addressing Abuse in Baptist Communities

Abuse within Baptist communities takes many forms—clergy sexual abuse and misconduct, domestic violence and racialized spiritual abuse—yet Baptist churches and institutions often struggle to respond effectively. This panel brings together legal, theological, social work, and survivor perspectives to examine the challenges of addressing abuse and creating safer, more just Baptist communities. Robert G. Callahan II, Rev. Geneece Goertzen, Lucy Huh and Chellee Taylor will discuss institutional accountability, survivor advocacy, and practical steps for reform. This conversation will explore how Baptists can confront abuse with both courage and conviction.

Presiding: Dr. Jon Singletary, Dean of the Diana R. Garland School of Social Work, Baylor University.

Robert G. Callahan II is a Baylor Law School graduate, adjunct professor, award-winning attorney, and author of the book Fire in the Whole: Embracing Our Righteous Anger with White Christianity and Reclaiming Our Wholeness which tackles spiritual abuse in the form of racism, misogyny, and bigotry. His firm, Callahan & King, PLLC, handles several practice areas, including cases of clergy abuse filed on behalf of survivors of sexual abuse in the church.

Rev. Geneece Goertzen, MDiv/LMSW, is a Ph.D. candidate in the Garland School of Social Work at Baylor University. Her research focuses on the intersection of faith and practice regarding domestic violence. As a survivor, she is passionate about turning pain into purpose for helping others, as evidenced in her 2024 book, Taking it Seriously: A Faith Leader's Guide to Domestic Violence. Additional resources are available at HopeRiseThrive.com.

Lucy Huh is a Ph.D. student and doctoral research fellow at Baylor University's Center for Church and Community Impact, where her research and advocacy focus on preventing clergy-perpetrated abuse of adult women through legislative and institutional reform. She has led policy initiatives including California Senate Bill 894 and serves on the boards of The North American Association of Christians in Social Work (NACSW) and Awake, a national organization working to address abuse in the Catholic Church.

Chellee Taylor was an active community member and employee of Baptist churches for 14 years until clergy-perpetrated sexual abuse abruptly ended her involvement. As a survivor, she faced poor institutional response, betrayal, a legal battle, and rejection from the church she once cherished. Now, Chellee is involved in multiple nonprofits focused on abuse, advocating for and empowering survivors, and seeking dialogue with institutional leaders to create safer Christian communities and promote lasting reform.

Plenary Session 4 (Wednesday, 5/21—10:30–Noon)

Adult Clergy Sexual Abuse: Impact on Survivors

This plenary session will define Adult Clergy Sexual Abuse (ACSA) and describe the impact. ACSA involves pastors using their power and position to engage in sexual acts with those in their care, leading to severe psychological and spiritual harm. The status quo in 2025 is tragic: Congregations often blame victims and perpetrators are rarely held accountable.

Dr. David Pooler is a Professor of Social Work at Baylor University, where he has taught clinical intervention courses for 16 years. He is the Director of the Adult Clergy Sexual Abuse: Advocacy and Research Collaborative, exploring ACSA by combining research with clinical insights from treatment of survivors. This approach provides unique perspectives on how ACSA occurs, how healing happens, and what justice should look like.
